Overflow Crowds.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau,
Albany, Dec. 23.

John J. Lyons, Secretary of State, announced to-day the complete program for the inauguration of Governor-elect Alfred E. Smith on New Year's day. The ceremony will be held in the Assembly chamber, on the third floor of the Capitol, and will be preceded by one of the largest parades that ever attended an inaugural here. Preparations are being made for handling a bigger crowd than ever before came to Albany for such an occasion. Only about 1,600 persons will be able to view the ceremony in the Assembly chamber.

The program will open at 11 o'clock in the morning. All persons holding other than platform tickets must be in their seats before 11 o'clock, as none will be allowed to enter the Assembly chamber after that hour.

Assemblymen to Enter First.

At 11:15 the 150 members of the Assembly will march two abreast to seats in section 2. Each official group as it enters will be announced by the Sergeant-at-Arms and recognized by the Secretary of State.

The members of the Senate will reach the chamber at 11:35 and will take seats in section 2.

The third group to enter the chamber will be the commanding officers of the land and naval forces of the State, approximately twenty in number, who will be given seats in section 1.

The Judges of the Court of Appeals will be the first to take seats on the platform.

Governors to Enter Together.

As the two Governors enter the chamber they will walk side by side, each followed by his respective military secretary and military staffs following in single file.

The entire assemblage will stand as the Governors enter. On the platform the Governor-elect will take a seat to the right and the retiring Governor a seat to the left.

The invocation will be by Bishop

Edmond F. Gibbons of the Albany diocese.

The Secretary of State-elect will then introduce the retiring Governor, who will speak briefly.

The constitutional oath of office will be administered to Gov.-elect Smith by the Secretary of State.

A salute of seventeen guns, fired as the oath of office is being administered, will signalize that a new Governor has assumed office.

As the guns cease the new Secretary of State will present the new Governor in the following words:

"I have the honor of introducing His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New York, Alfred E. Smith."

Following "The Star Spangled Banner," played by the band, Mr. Smith will deliver his inaugural address.

Benediction will be by Bishop Richard H. Nelson of Albany to close the exercises. The audience will stand as the two Governors, their staffs and the State officers leave the chamber.

Assembly places for the various official groups have been designated as follows: Assembly, the Assembly parlor; Senate, the Senate chamber; commanding officers of the land and naval forces, the Executive chamber; Court of Appeals and Board of Regents, room 227. With the exception of the two Governors, the military secretaries and staffs, all of the incoming and outgoing elective State officers are to assemble in the Secretary of State's office. Ladies holding tickets for the inaugural platform will be requested to meet not later than 11 o'clock in room 226.

Ninety-two Persons on Platform.

The platform will be decorated with American flags and evergreens. Ninety-two persons will have seats there. The incoming and outgoing Governors, their military secretaries and staffs, will number about forty persons; incoming and outgoing State officers and families about forty-two persons, and the families of the incoming and outgoing Governors about fifteen persons. The remaining twenty seats have been assigned to the Judges of the Court of Appeals, State Board of Regents and the Speaker of the Assembly. No persons are to be admitted to other than the first floor of the State Capitol while the inauguration is under way except holders of tickets of admission or passes. While the police will handle the ground floor of the Capitol, forty State troopers will be assigned to the second and third floors. Forty ushers and doorkeepers have been named.

The work of installing the radio apparatus, conceived by Secretary of State Lyons as a means of taking care of the overflow, will start Tuesday. The entire proceedings of the inauguration will be broadcast. This part of the program is under the direction of the General Electric Company, Schenectady. Two microphones will be placed at the front of the platform. In addition to the general broadcasting every word will also be carried to the Senate chamber and to the front of the State Capitol, to be repeated by amplifiers for the crowds there.

FIREMEN WILL HOLD RECEPTION IN GARDEN

May Use Madison Square for Overflow Crowd.

The annual reception and entertainment of the Uniformed Firemen's Association of Greater New York, always held in two halls because no one building available could accommodate the crowds, will be given this winter in Madison Square Garden on January 20. An elaborate vaudeville bill is being arranged and the Fire Department band will play. Gov. Miller Gov.-elect Smith, Mayor Hylan and other officials have been invited. There will be a ball and the proceeds thereof will be devoted to the fraternal and benevolent fund of the organization.

Fire Commissioner Drennan has sanctioned the affair. Virtually all the rank and file of the Fire Department belong to the association. Albert E. Guinness, president, is directing the party. Mr. Guinness says that the crowd promises to reach proportions that will warrant his asking Mayor Hylan to let the firemen utilize Madison Square Park in addition to the Garden.

WINS $800,000 PLEA IN BRONX PARKWAY

Commission Must Get Money
From Estimate Board, Says
Justice Marsh.

Justice Marsh in the Supreme Court yesterday granted the application of the Bronx Parkway Commission for writs of peremptory mandamus against the Board of Estimates and Apportionment directing it to appropriate about $800,000 for work completed this year and for that part of the estimate omitted from the budget for 1923.

In overruling the defense of the city that the commission was forced upon the city without its consent, Justice Marsh ruled "it is now very late to raise the objection that the approval was given through a misunderstanding of the exact situation."

He held that the matter is one for legislative relief if the commission has been extravagant or if the project is costing more than the city authorities feel justified in expending.

"The city's duty to furnish the funds requested being mandatory," he added, "it is not even a defense to this proceeding that the budget has already reached its constitutional limit. In that event it is the duty of the Board of Estimate to make readjustments in the items over which they have discretionary control. Not even the recently discovered inability to make refunds for illegally collected bank taxes can defeat the rights of the petitioner (the commission)."
